What will They do About It?

In the Democratic platform, it is, for a wonder, admitted that the party which adopted it, 'condemns the action of those States which have placed themselves in rebellion against the Government.' There is then a rebellion. It is not a war of the North against the South, but States have placed themselves in rebellion against the Government. Now, it being admitted that there is a rebellion against the Government, we should like to have Judge Wait who carpentered the platform, tell us what is the duty of the Government when a rebellion exists? Can it do otherwise than to employ all its strength, if necessary, to crush the insurrection and to compel the seceded States to abandon their treason? If it does not follow this course, it must necessarily yield to the rebellion, and by rejecting its duty, sacrifice the nation. But the platform has not a word of encouragement for the Government in this respect. It does not even admit that the rebellion which it condemns, ought to be put down, nor does it express a hope for this result. Why then condemn it, if it ought not to be stopped—and how is it to be stopped, without vigorous action in resistance to it? Surely, if the party which condemns the rebellion has no plan for crushing it, and expresses nothing but reproaches and contempt for the Government, while trying to do so, it cannot complain if loyal people—if patriotic Democrats who are still nominally in its ranks, doubt its sincerity, and denounce its platform as a humbug—as a trap to catch men by the multitude of its many words, which amount to nothing, and really only mean that the Democratic party has no sympathy with the Administration, wishes it to be defeated, loves slavery because it was a useful political machine, and on the whole, would prefer to see the South succeed, so that the Democracy may have the opportunity to boast that it is not responsible for the consequences of the war.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—The Newburyport Herald discusses the national debt, present and prospective, in a very able article, arriving at the conclusion that 'four thousand millions is a great debt for thirty millions of people with sixteen thousand millions of property, but we are simply to pay the interest. If American institutions and liberties can be preserved, the debt may be paid a half a century hence, when our thirty millions of people may have changed to a hundred millions, and our sixteen thousand millions of property to sixty thousand millions.'

THE WAR IS ONE OF SELF-DEFENCE.—The peace Democracy, as one of its most potent arguments, is often declaiming that "the war should be stopped, because the North and the South are brothers." So were Cain and Abel, yet Cain rose against his brother and slew him. When the South, actuated by the spirit of Cain, rose against the North, the North concluded to resist Abel's fate, and defend its life against the murderous designs of its assailants.

HENRY WARD BEECHER'S TRIBUTE TO MR. KING.—On the Sabbath after the death of Mr. King, Mr. Beecher preached from the text "Being dead, yet speaketh," and spoke thus in his sermon:

Tidings came yesterday, from California, that Starr King is dead! My brother, he was in spite of the theologies and the philosophies that separated us. My feelings went right over them all and embraced him because he had a great heart—for God and for man, and so he was mine. I honored him before, but I revere him now. Young, was he? No, he was a patriarch! When this war broke out, with tongues of fire and with nimble foot inspired by the truest spirit of patriotism, he labored up and down through California, as if to circumnavigate that whole region, and we owe it to him more than to all other men, that California is loyal to-day. The loyalty of that State is due more than to anything else to the fact that he gave his power unflinchingly and unremittingly for Union and against Slavery. But now he is dead! Oh no he is not. So long as there is a legend left of the early men who framed that Republic that golden sphere Starr King's name will be remembered. Yes a King is he! Yes Starry is his memory! A King he sat around whose head shall be the Starry crown. I thank God that he lived. I am not sorry that he is dead. He is not dead. Being dead, he yet speaketh.

Justice to Our Volunteers

We publish the following from an intelligent citizen of the State professing never that we think he is mistaken in saying that Oregon ever promised thirty dollars per month. That inducement was held out by parties without authority as we are informed.

FORT HALLE, OREGON, April 10 1864

FOR THE OREGONIAN

Seeing that you have no correspondent at this part of the country, I would with the army and presuming you may be well some interest in our welfare I have concluded to send you a few lines for the purpose of representing the interest of the volunteers from Oregon, seeing that as yet just as has never been done by the citizens in any manner whatever and that the matter does not to be properly laid before the people it would perhaps consideration. The question has been asked for the ten thousand that we will they draft in Oregon and the answer has been will duly. It has been the policy on this coast to make the people protect themselves, which they ought to be willing to do, and California has done more while Oregon has been recruiting during the whole time, and has now in the field six parts of companies California volunteers being called upon to garrison posts in our State as at Fort Hoskins, Washington Territory boasts of one regiment of ten companies, the men claiming citizenship and voting for officers of California who constitute the principle defence for our frontier. And why is this? Is Oregon less loyal or patriotic than California, or is there some other reason? I think there is found the fact California has passed a bill appropriating five dollars per month in addition all her volunteers besides large bounties to be advanced in entering the service, and has made provision for taking the wives of her volunteers when out of the State protecting the frontier of Oregon. What has Oregon done for her noble first half regiment? Let us see. On enlistment of the first five companies she promised her volunteers thirty one dollars per month for themselves and horses kept them out of their pay for over one year before receiving a cent, during which time specie payments were being made, colluded with California speculators to bring down greenbacks to fifty cents on the dollar, then paid them off in greenbacks at twenty five dollars per month instead of thirty one dollars as promised. The men complained of course, and some refused to receive their pay, for which they were summoned in the guard house until they would receive it. The responsibility was amply tried to be saddled upon some one, but no one seemed to be responsible.

Remonstrances were sent to Gen Alvord who sent an order to disband the regiments if they still refused to receive their pay, after which they were coolly told by Col Shoemberger that unless they would receive their pay he should consider it as mutiny and so disband and treat it accordingly. Under these circumstances they were compelled to submit. The regiment being composed principally of men whose relations were in Oregon and men who had enlisted through patriotic motives and would endure anything before dishonor or mutiny. Hence they submitted, but will be too smart to be caught in such a trap again, or let any of their friends be caught. The attempt to fill up the regiment as often proved the result although the last were promised nothing and the promise has been well kept. I speak from personal knowledge of the latter. Persons using tobacco pay out the greater part of their thirteen dollars in greenbacks for that article alone. During this entire time Oregon has an overflowing Treasury. The first five companies will be disbanded by the expiration of their term of enlistment in eight or ten months from this time. What will the coming Legislature do for them? This is a question I wish to put to every candidate for position in that body. And if they are willing to do nothing can they complain if a draft is ordered up in them or their constituents if they permit it?

We came to this place on the 6th inst., en route for Canyon City as a protection for the miners against incursions of hostile and thieving bands of Indians and will probably leave this place in a day or two. Our expedition will number about 100 men, being a part of Co D and all of Co G 1st Cavalry O V, under command of Capt Drake.

The weather is fine, horses in good condition, and everything promises fair for the trip.

More anon. COMPANY G

PARTICULARS OF THE ARREST OF GENERAL TOOMBS.—The Savannah Republican says:

We have said nothing of the recent arrest of Gen (now Colonel) Toombs, and his trial, now progressing before a court martial in this city, for the reason that we regarded it simply a case of military discipline in which the public would feel no particular interest. But it seems that the event has got abroad, the story, gathering most marvelously as it traveled, is done up at length in the Richmond papers with an almost endless variety of minutiæ and speculation, not one of which is correct. It is, therefore, due to General Toombs and to truth that the facts should be stated as they are. And in the outset we would assure our Richmond cotemporaries that the treason, disloyalty, passport and old woman parts of the story are all pure fabrications. The facts are well known here to be as follows; or perhaps we should say the allegations, as the trial has not yet been concluded.

Gen Toombs was at Augusta with a regiment of State troops recently mustered into the Confederate service for a limited term, and which he commanded. His command was about to take the cars for Savannah on one of the cold days of the late severe spell. They were to travel in box cars, and the soldiers, after laying a plank on the floor of the cars with brick and sand built fires thereon for the purpose of keeping themselves warm on the journey. The agent of the road, Mr. Selkirk, seeing this, remonstrated with the men, told them it was prohibited by the rules of the company, and that when the train got in motion the fire would blow into it and the train be destroyed. He furthermore is said to have stated that the train should not leave the depot until the fires were extinguished. Gen Toombs, coming up in the midst of the altercation between the agent and his men, declared that the fires should not be extinguished that the train should leave in spite of the agent and after cursing and using much bitter language towards the latter had him arrested and kept in custody by a guard. He also threatened to have the agent cut to pieces and thrown into the engine fire; all together with direful other calamities too numerous to mention. Whether the facts were so or not, we did not learn, but the agent being outnumbered, offered no further resistance, and the train with the troops left for Savannah. The agent reported the case to the railroad company and of them complaint to the military authorities. Gen Toombs was arrested and carried before the provost marshal.

Such are the facts as we learn them from apparently reliable source. They are circumstances entered into the case of Mr. Toombs arrest, at least not come to our knowledge.

Two companies of Oregon cavalry under Capt Drake, took up the line of march for Canyon City on the 20th.

RUMORS AND REALITY.—The following is an extract from a speech delivered by one Ogden Byron Young, at a ratification meeting in Charleston on the evening following the surrender of Fort Sumpter:

It is well for him (Lincoln) that there is a peaceful movement in the South opposed to his success or to the chair of State. It will save his head for rest assured my countrymen that if the South shall prove her self an accident demonstrated degenerated and lost all honor and shame as not to resent to the very death this cunning outrage upon her honor and rights, more than one American Brutus would emerge from the moral degeneracy of the times, and the exhilirancy of the age to wipe out the vile stain of this country's pollution, and wrest her true constitution at the dagger's point from the cursed grasp of the servile Lincoln dynasty. And if into the conflict I should be forced, and that was never resisted to harm mankind except in self defense, would be with joy to the high responsibility of drawing the dagger to the miscreant's heart—and for that I would feel that I deserved well of my country and of all mankind. For I shall have saved from dishonor that Old Virginia Clock over which the intertwining of Black Republicanism has thrown its cobwebs and in which guilty shame never sat—that clock secreted and made sacred by the virtues of Washington, immortalized by the wisdom and intellect of a Jefferson, and illustrated by the valor and heroism of an Jackson. And having thus saved my country from this deep and damning disgrace, if perchance I might escape the bullet of the bullies of the Lincoln tool I would live on in the calm serenity of a conscience void of offence assured that I had acted well my part in the great drama of life. But if I should fall if the cold of the dungeon should betide me, I would die in the full assurance that posterity would vindicate the integrity of my motives and rescue my name through all time from oblivion.

No, my countrymen, I would never die etc. South Carolina—the young morning star of American glory—this to-day, bid farewell to an ignominious Union to seek elsewhere, by her own arm and determined will an asylum from outrage, violence and wrong. She will so long be alone in her glory before other mothers shall hang her pale crescent in the midnight heavens star after star will she from these deserted spheres, until the whole Southern hosts will follow in her radiant wake, and sing together the gloria in excelsis of the second birth—a birth of the spirit and of fire.

The spirit of '76' is abroad in the land animating every Southern heart; and the baptismal fires of the Revolution are descending.

And now for the other side.

U S MILITARY PRISON,
NASHVILLE, November 15 1863

My Dear Friend,—We are very much in want of some smoking tobacco and clean out of the spondulicks for the present, and shall not be in possession of a remittance from home for some weeks. You will confer a signal favor and a very great kindness by sending us some good smoking tobacco and decent pipes. I am going to indulge in the fashionable dissipation of smoking. Oh, the interminable tedium and ennui of this dreary prison. Would to Heaven I had followed your advice. So soon as I shall be released I shall return to Missouri and take the stump in favor of restoring that State to her allegiance. The rebellion has proved a signal failure. Jeff Davis is a magnificent humbug, and the restoration of the entire Union, (whole, as it sprung from the pure hearts that conceived it) is certain and inevitable. I shall bow to the omnipotent behest, Vox Populi Vox Dei. The interest of Missouri is with the Union. That people should never have renounced the Federal Government. I shall use my humble influence to restore the lost Pleiad back to her own native Heavenward track. Truly and sincerely your friend,

OLIVIE BYRON YOUNG.

WHAT MAKES A COMMONWEALTH.—The Indians grew very inquisitive after knowledge both in things divine and also human and as one of them, meeting with an honest plain Englishman would needs know of him what were the first beginnings (which we call principles) of a Commonwealth. The Englishman being far short in the knowledge of such matters, yet ashamed that an Indian should find an Englishman ignorant of any thing, bethought himself what answer to give him, at last resolved upon this, namely, that the first principle of a Commonwealth was salt, for, saith he, by means of salt we can keep our flesh and fish to have it ready when we need it, whereas you lose much for the want of it, and sometimes are ready to starve.

A second principle is iron, for, thereby, we fell trees, build houses, till land, &c. A third principle is ships, by which we carry forth such commodities as we have to spare, and fetch in such as we need, as cloth, wine, etc. 'Alas!' said the Indian 'then I fear that we shall never be a Commonwealth, for we can neither make salt, nor iron, nor ships.'

And so it has remained with their descendants and brethren ever since. And alas! our unhappy friends in Dixie are beginning, practically, to work out the same proposition and seem to find it one exceedingly difficult to solve.—Winthrop's History of Massachusetts, Vol 2d.

WIZARD'S CAVE.—Burleigh the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

There is a small room in the Astor House on the lower floor, around which cluster quite as much interest as any room in the nation, except the President's room at the White House. Its occupant and he has held the room for many years is a quiet and apparently unobtrusive man, moving about the corridors with a cat like step, rarely speaking to any one, rarely being spoken to and of so quiet and subdued a mien that its presence would not be noticed by a stranger. He comes and goes almost without observation—passing away in the evening train and flitting back with the early morning light. Few men of importance or rank in civil or military life, pass through New York without visiting this room. It is the head quarters of the conservative element of the land without regard to party. Fremont does not visit it, but McClellan does. Butler did not call in this recent passage through New York, but Gov Seymour is quite at home in the Chambers. His plan for the reorganizing of the rebel states, and the conservative plan for conducting the next Presidential campaign is here applied out and perfected. Influences that agitate Congress and the State Legislatures, and knock into pi the schemes of politicians can be traced to this little chamber which is the New York home of Thurlow Weed.

NEW YORK April 20.—Telegrams indicate that Lee's eastern retreat has been nothing more than a portion of his army through the forests and mountains near Madison Court House, when a halt was ordered, and it is reported that a considerable body of rebel cavalry near Leesburg, Maryland, has been detached from the main body of Lee's army to check their advance should it be attempted.

It is reported that troops have been sent to the front from the invincible corps as reinforcements to the rebel army, which the union troops were compelled to retreat before, on the Red river, on the 18th and 19th inst. The reserve artillery and the cavalry division of the 19th corps.

Many fugitives returning from the front report a recent rencontre between Custer's brigade and Mosby's band of prisoners.

The rebel cavalry in the vicinity of Leesburg have several valuable teams and taken them off with Gen Lowell immediately followed the rebels and got cavalry from Alexandria pursuit by rail. Later with a brigade from Fairfax Court House to give them battle.

NEW YORK April 20.—A Norfolk letter to the Herald says the late imprisonment of the rebel Congressmen Ould to procure Monroe was to ask that to send forward our sick prisoners at Richmond, who are too large a force to remain South. Some of these have since arrived and Ould said it would be a matter of the government succeeded in sending half of them.

The Richmond papers contain the following—

MOBILE April 15.—To Gen Cooper: The following report has been received at Baton Rouge on the 13th from the Surgeon General of Banks's army. We met the enemy near Shreveport, and the Union forces was repulsed with great loss. The gunboat Essex or Bat on was destroyed by a torpedo on the Red river and a store transport captured by the Confederates. Farragut is reported to be preparing an attack on Mobile with six monitors. The garrisons of New Orleans and Baton Rouge are much reduced for the purpose of increasing Banks' force.

D H MAURY, Major Gen Commanding.

CAIRO April 18.—Cole's Cavalry arrived with 15 prisoners captured on the Half moon mountain on Lick river, Ky. Hedges rebel brigade attacked Col Hespic's forces at Paris, on the 14th and was repulsed. Gillespie pursued the rebels with 500 men of the 14th and 15th Ky and surprised them on the 14th camped at Hartmoon mountain, capturing 70 prisoners, 200 horses and mules, 300 stand small arms and camp equipments. Eighty five rebels were killed and wounded. A large amount of stolen property was recovered and given to the owners. The rebel wagon train was captured and burned. Our loss was one killed and four wounded. The rebels were commanded by Col C Prentice. Way and Johnson are among the prisoners.

CAIRO 20.—Nothing is known of Forrest's movements. Reports in advance 7 miles below Paducah fail to discover his whereabouts.

NEW YORK 20.—An Alexandria letter of the 9th says the rebels are burning all the cotton on Red river and Ouchita.

CAIRO 20.—An expedition composed of 500 cavalry and a section of artillery arrived at Helena to night from a scout towards White river, bringing 50 of Prices mules and 11 prisoners—50 of them captured in the country between White river and Mississippi. The Guerrillas, a short time since, made a raid on a plantation 40 miles south of Vicksburg capturing a large number of horses and mules and niggers. The guerrillas determined that abandoned plantations shall not be worked by northern men.

CHICAGO April 20.—Letters of the privates in the Chicago Mercantile Battery confirm the reported defeat of a portion of the forces composing the Red river Expedition, but gives no particulars of the battle.

A letter says that in the morning Gen Smith came up with his command and relieved Gen Frank Lin who stopped the rebels badly capturing 20 guns, and 3000 prisoners.

Another letter places the number of prisoners at 2 000 and says that 18 pieces of artillery were captured. In the fight on the 8th we lost 24 guns all that were in the action. The same letter says our corps are cut all to pieces. Out of 3 000 500 are left to tell the tale of the fearful odds against which we contended. We will probably have full particulars of the disaster in a day or two.

WASHINGTON April 20.—The following has been received by the Navy Department.

CAIRO April 19.—To G deon Welles.—I have received private letters from Red river one dated Grand Echo the 12th and another from Alexandria of the same date, stating that the army under Banks met with a reverse on the 8th, near Mansfield. The army fell back, and on the next day the rebels attacked them again and were whipped. Loss heavy on both sides. Admiral Porter, when last heard from, was 40 miles above Grand Echo.

Signed, A M PENNOCK,
Fleet Captain.

SAN FRANCISCO April 20.—The opposition steamer Washoe for the Sacramento line made its trial trip this morning.

It is reported that another contraband shipment of 1 000 kegs of blasting powder for Mexico, has been made within a few days.

THE SANITARY MEETING.—We trust that woman who feels an interest in the noble patriotic work of the Sanitary Commission and who that has a heart can fail to be interested in it—will forget the meeting called afternoon by the Ladies Society, at the Presbyterian vestry for the purpose of devising effective means to increase the liberality of this city. This is no time to forget the sufferings of soldiers—the late intelligence terrible and story, and should arouse all to a sense individual responsibility. True, we believe that large sums of money have lately been contributed at the grand Fairs in the Eastern cities, amounting perhaps to a million dollars, but even such splendid gifts will feebly supply the immense demand which is increasing every hour, and is almost limitless. To do thousands of sufferers would be pinching hopeless misery in Louisiana, in Florida, Kentucky, and wherever the army is employed, but for the efforts of those who sustain the Commission. We hope that every true hearted woman in our city will feel that she has something to do in accomplishing this noble work.

WASHOE WINTER WAGONS.—Several large wagons arrived on the schooner Monitor from California, one of which may be set down as being by far the largest wagon at present in Oregon. The running gear alone weighs upwards of 1500 pounds. The wheels are 14-inch hub, weighing in the aggregate 800 lbs. The hind wheels are twenty-one feet in circumference. The carrying capacity of the wagon amounts to 9,000 lbs. Notwithstanding the ponderous dimensions of the vehicle, it is moved very easily, by an 8 mule team when loaded. These wagons are common on the Washoe route, and from their peculiar construction, are said to have been well adapted to traveling over the snows of the Sierra Nevadas in winter.

MUNITIONS OF WAR.—By the schooner Monitor, from San Francisco a supply of fifteen hundred and forty six packages of shot and shell were discharged at Astoria, for use in Forts Defiance and Adams, at the mouth of the Columbia. They are consigned to Capt Elliott, and would have been discharged at or near the place of final deposit, had there been time to complete the necessary landing place. Thirty packages are consigned to Capt. Eckerson, of the Ordinance Department at Fort Vancouver. Eleven packages consigned to Lieut Hammond, at Fort Lapwai, were also received. We are glad to notice the interest thus manifested by the home Government in our welfare.

U S SUPERVISING INSPECTOR.—The quiet arrival by the last steamer, of William Bennett, Esq., U S Supervising Inspector of steamboats, boilers, pilots, etc., gave him an excellent opportunity of sauntering about among the steamboats, and seeing what was to be seen, without his official recognition by steamboat men. What the result of his investigations thus far may be we are not informed, but are told that he is a thorough, practical man rigid in his examinations, and impartial in his decisions, ever keeping most prominent in view the safety and convenience of the traveling public.

CITY DELEGATES.—The following call has been issued by the County Committee, for City Precinct Meetings to morrow, to appoint delegates to the County Convention, which is to be held on Saturday, May 7th, at the Court House in this city.

There being no Precinct Committees, the County Committee hereby designate Thompson's Hall, Washington street, North Portland Precinct, and the Court House, South Portland Precinct, the places for holding said meetings, in pursuance of notice heretofore published. The time of meeting 1 o'clock P M Saturday 23d inst.

OF RARE OCCURRENCE.—During our tramp, on Wednesday, we observed what we considered to be a rare curiosity. Celestialdom had caused a great stir on the streets by the appearance of two Chinese women, each leading a little John—one dressed in the costume of the "flowery land," and the other in American habit,—followed by a sorrowful looking "big" John, carrying an infant Celestial, closely cuddled in his arms. Thus formed in line they plodded their way to the steamship landing, destined for parts unknown to us.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—For the past three days there has been considerable trouble arising to teams and vehicles that happen to pass in the vicinity of Morrison street, at the junction of First from an ugly hole that persons are apt to drive into. We do not know whose business it is to look after the matter, but it would evidently be a wise policy for some person to attend to it, before the life of some valuable animal is sacrificed at that corner.

VALUABLE TREASURE EXPRESS.—The steamer Wilson G Hunt, Capt Wolfe arrived from the Cascades last evening bringing the largest amount of treasure that has probably arrived at any one trip this season. Mr West had about $60 000 in charge for Wells, Fargo & Co's Express and there was a like sum in the hands of a few passengers. The connection was to Walla Walla and Boise.

WASHOE HOSE.—The new hydrant at the corner of Washington and First streets is profitably used in the washing of Fire Department leading hose. The time and labor thus saved is an important item in the current expenses of the public service.

CRANKS FOR THE RIVAL.—The Brother Jonathan brought up a new pair of cranks for the P T Co's steamer Rival. They will be immediately fitted to their place and the steamer finished up for the fall trade.

FOR THE CASCADES.—Three steamers of the O S N Company left Pioneer wharf yesterday for the Cascades, all carrying full loads of freight. In the evening the Rescue left laden principally with teams and wagons.

ODD OCCURRENCE.—During our tramp, on Wednesday, we observed what we considered to be a rare curiosity. We do not know whose business it is to look after the matter, but it would evidently be a wise policy for some person to attend to it, before the life of some valuable animal is sacrificed at that corner.

Mr West had about $60,000 in charge for Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, and there was a like sum in the hands of a few passengers. The connection was to Walla Walla and Boise.

WASHOE HOSE.—The new hydrant at the corner of Washington and First streets is positively used in the washing of Fire Department leading hose. The time and labor thus saved, is an important item in the current expenses of the public service.

CRAMEN FOR THE RIVAL.—The Brother Jonathan brought up a new pair of cranks for the P. T. Co's steamer Rival. They will be immediately fitted to their place, and the steamer finished up for the fall trade.

FOR THE CASCADES.—Three steamers of the O. S. N. Company left Pioneer wharf yesterday for the Cascades, all carrying full loads of freight. In the evening the Rescue left laden principally with teams and wagons.

THE PANORAMA.—The exhibition of Pearsons Historic Mirror of the War, at the Willamette Theatre was greeted by a good house against last evening. It will bear repetition, and still be intensely interesting. Some of the scenes are fine panoramic paintings. And the dramatic effects they are highly impressive to the imagination. The reflection of the burning cities in the rippling waters of Charleston Bay, the flash and smoke and then the boom of guns answering from the Fort to the rebel batteries on shore, lend a touch of reality to the picture. The marine scenes—such as those at Charleston and the landing of the great expedition at Port Royal—are among the most striking; but the land views have also an interest of their own. Among the many scenes represented are a few comic sketches showing how soldiers forage, how darkies enjoy themselves when their masters fled from Beaufort, etc., giving some relief to the painfully exciting scenes of other portions of the exhibition.

FOR VICTORIA.—The clipper schooner Jenny Jones Capt. Jas. Jones Master, has received a cargo of 1200 sacks of flour, fourteen tons of bacon, and a quantity of eggs and apples. She will leave for Victoria to day, and will return to this port as soon as permitted by wind and weather after taking in a cargo. It is expected that the following trip she will make under steam, and thenceforth we are promised her services as a regular steam packet between here and Vancouver Island. Success to the new packet line.

STEAM ENGINE FOR ALBANY.—The steamer Senator took a very neat steam engine, and turning machinery up the Willamette yesterday morning, for S Althouse, Albany, who is about putting in operation at that place a steam turning lathe. This machinery is from Hoadley's machinery shop, Lowell Mass. By industry we prosper, so success to enterprise.

MRS SALLIE B. THAYER.—We are glad to learn that this eloquent and patriotic lady meets with charming success in her journey up the Willamette Valley. Crowded houses listen with pleasure to her appeals to woman in behalf of her country, and her admirable recitations are greatly applauded.

THE RAFFLE for that splendid oil painting, 3x6 feet in size, Venus rising from the Sea, will take place as advertised to morrow evening. Mr Brink has taken great pains with this production, and it will be a prize for the winner.

LET ON.—The Portland Water Company have turned the flow of aqua for Second street into their new mains along that section. These improvements are constant, and of great value to the city.

A NEW ROOF.—Carpenters have been engaged for several days roofing the Methodist Church anew.

PARSON BROWNLOW ESTABLISHING A PROPER LEVEL.—Parson Brownlow is gradually recovering from his illness. He seems destined to fulfill his intention to live and see this rebellion crushed. That he is at this time "alive and kicking," the following article from his paper will sufficiently attest:

For the last forty years Eastern Tennessee has been cursed with an aristocracy whose headquarters has been at Knoxville, and whose consciousness of superiority has been sticking out whenever a family has owned from three to ten kinky headed negroes. This one an aristocracy founded alone upon the nigger, and so far has it carried its insolence for years, that when one of these "upper tens" would speak to the wife or daughter of an honest mechanic, or a decent laboring man, they regarded their act of speaking as one of great condescension. It is not sufficient for the world to know that these high-flyers were the descendants in a direct line, from some old foreigners who had been sold out upon shares to pay their passage to this country. It was not sufficient to know that their illustrious predecessors took their start in life by peddling pins and needles, by spading up gardens for other people, or by entering other people's lands, and, by hook or crook, securing their titles.

Through the mercy of God, the firmness of Mr Lincoln, and the madness of the Southern Confederacy we are all about to find a common level, where we can at least boast that the Lord is the maker of us all. He has not heretofore been the maker of us all but the times are changing. It will require lamps and gas-lights in daytime to find the aristocracy of this town. The dirtiest branch of the concern is following in the rear of Longstreet's army; some of them are attempting rapes upon decent women, some are losing what little they had accumulated by playing cards, and others of them are killing themselves drinking mean whisky. The days of their greatness and glory are over, and they are standing now where their merits, conduct and associations by right have placed them.

The Mountaineer of yesterday has a report from Canyon City stating that the party of citizens and soldiers, sixty three in all, who started out after a band of thieving Indians came across their encampment in the Goose Lake country, but finding the savages too strong for them they concluded to retreat and await reinforcements, in which a fight ensued, lasting a distance of 15 miles, and three citizens and two soldiers are missing. Upon the receipt of the news at Canyon City, some three hundred citizens forthwith volunteered to go out and fight.

Vig H. & L. Co No 1.—Will meet at the Truck House this Friday evening, at ½ o'clock for Drill. Full attendance requested.

F W McGRAW, Foreman.

BEAUTIFUL.—Miles make of Ladies Serge Congress heel Gaiter Boots, Philadelphia make, are certainly the most elegant in the United States. The name will always be observed upon the sole of the shoe. Shelby has just received a few dozen pairs expressed direct from the East. If in want of such goods call soon.

Union County Convention.

All persons who are in favor of unconditionally sustaining the Administration in a vigorous prosecution of the war until the rebellion is finally suppressed and recognizing it to be the duty of every true patriot to meet in all necessary precincts (where delegates have not already been chosen) to choose delegates to the County Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Legislature and County Officers for said county and to transact such other business as may be properly brought before the Convention, are hereby requested to meet at the Committee recommend one o'clock Saturday the 23d of April as the time for holding Precinct Meetings.

The several Precincts are entitled to the following number of delegates:

East Portland Precinct 20 North 10 Sauvie's 3 Powell Valley 3, Sandy 2, Willamette 2, Multnomah 2, East Portland 2 Total 20.

A Medley Song.

[The following is one of the most ingenious poetic medleys we have seen in a long time It purports to be Stephen C Foster's last song]

As you've walked through the town on a fine summer's day
The subject I've got y u have seen I dare say;
Up a fences and railings, wherever you go
You'll see penny ballads sticking up in a row;
The titles to read by u must stand for a while
And some are so odd that they will cause you to smile;
I noted them down as I read them along
And I've put them together to make up my song

Chorus—Old songs, new songs! every kind of song,
I noted them down as I read them along

There was "Abel and Daughter" "Going out a-sleighing upon
Sprce,
With Old Uncle Snow, In the Cottage by the Sea,
'If your foot is pretty show it' 'At Lanagan's Ball
And 'Why did she leave him' 'On the Raging Canawl'
There was Bobbie Annie with "A Jockey Hat and Feather"
'I don't think much of you We were boys and girls together
'Do they think of me at home? 'I'll be free and easy still
'Give me a good commander" with "The sword of Bunker Hill"

Chorus—Old songs, &c.

"When this cruel war is over," "No Irish need apply,
"For everything is lovely and the goose hangs high"
'The Young Gal from New Jersey," "Oh will thou be my bride?
And "Oft in the Stilly Night 'Will all take a ride"
"Let me kiss him for his Mother," "He's a Gay Young Gamboller
"I'm going to fight mit Sigel' and "De Belly Leger Bier,"
'Hunkey Boy is Yankee Doodle, 'When the cannons roar;
'We are coming, Father Abraham, six hundred thousand more

Chorus—Old songs, &c.

"In the days when I was hard up' with 'My Mary Ann,"
My Johnny was a Shoemaker "Or any other Man!'
'The Captain with whiskers' and 'Annie of the Vale,'
Along with 'Old Bob Ridley!' 'A riding on a rail"
'Rock me to sleep, mother" 'Coing round the Horn,"
'I'm not myself at all' 'I'm a Bachelor Forlorn
'Mother, is the battle over?' 'What are the men about"
"How are you Horace Greeley!" Base your mother know you're out!'

Chorus—Old songs &c.

"We won't go home till morning" with "The Bold Privateer.
"Annie Lisle" and "Zouave Johnny' "Riding in a Railroad Car"
"We are marching along" with "The Four and Thirty Clears
"On the other side of Jordan' 'Don't fly your kite too high'
'Jenny's coming o'er the Green," to 'Root Hog or Die!"
"Our Union's Starry Banner," "The Flag of Washington,
Shall float victorious o'er the land, from Maine to Oregon!

Chorus—Old songs, &c.

The Gospel in Egypt.

A correspondent of the Tribune, from Southern Illinois, gives that paper an interesting description of an interview he had with a "preacher" of that region, who was by secular profession, a blacksmith. After some conversation he proposed to the writer to become a preacher also

Of course I started at this, but he was fully prepared to urge the matter, and he told me how much good I could do with my learning, how souls are perishing, and how the harvest is ripe. All I needed to start with was a little more knowledge of the Scriptures, which I could get by reading them, and from the preachers, in fact he himself would tell all he knew and if I would only try, in six months I would become one of the first preachers in the country.

I told him I had read of one, who beside being a preacher, was also a doctor, and I always thought it would be an honor to any one to imitate him, but I was afraid that if I should try to do so, I would get into trouble

I guess not," said he, "but if doctrine's a part op't, you've got a heap o' that already Where did you learn it, in Edinot, or up Northud, where you come from?"

No, he lived in the East"

Over, a Yankee like you is. What did you say his name was?"

I have never seen him, I only read of him"

"Was it Wesley?"

I think not A good many years ago, I first read about him in a book a little hard to understand, it seems Though he preached both Sundays and week days, he was thought so much of as doctor that they sent for him a good many miles, and he had a very great practice"

"Calomel or steam?"

That is not known, for his medicine seldom was seen"

Was it a harsh medicine?"

Very mild"

"I would'nt do for this country. The liver's what's the matter with us, and nothin' so good for this as blue mass 'Pears like he was a smart chap He didn't preach from notes I reckon"

I cannot say how this was, but in short reports we have of his sermons, they seem carefully studied, and every word was in its proper place!"

"That don't 'mount to shucks," said the preacher "I remember, it's now onto two year I had a 'pintment to preach in old Jonesboro, for the fust time, and as there is a power o' lawyers, marchants and sich larned men in that town, thinks I to myself, and says I, I must show 'em what a sermon is, and I will, and if for nothin' more than to do honor to old Union Country, and I picked out my text, early Monday morning, not intendin' to do a lick o' work all the week, and I didn't, for every mornin' I went out away off into the woods, and into a big sink hole, and I said, this rock is the cheer, and them trees is the lawyers, and I took my text, and then I preached, sometimes one way, sometimes tother, till I got the fust part as I wanted it, and I said you're all right, I'll preach you, and so I went on till I got 'em all right, then I put 'em all together and preached 'em together, and I thought I had 'em as they orter be, I thought I had the best sermon as ever was preached, and I didn't know but I had; but, you see when I got in to the school house, which was chock full, an' I'd prayed and gin out the hymns, and took my text, and got a little way, just as I had it things got kinder tangeled, and I made the fifth part come afore the second part, and I told a part of an antidote I'd told afore, and they was a beginnin' to laugh, when, seein' what a scrape I'd got into, I just flung it all away, and preached as I'd allers preached, when I felt free, and I never was so happy in my life! and when I got through, they was so solemn you could heard a pin drap

But I don't want to disturb you with no long stories Go on about the preacher,"

"Yes In doctoring he made out well enough—nobody found any fault with him, but in preaching he got into difficulty. He was poor and had no influential kin folks to help him, and in all his preaching there were only two or three planters who liked him, and these were afraid to have it known To show you what kind of doctrine he preached, I will say that in the first sermon of which the book gives an account, he said 'That the Lord's spirit was upon him, that, he has been annointed to preach to poor folks, so that he could cure those whose hearts were broken, that he might preach liberty to the captives, to cure sore eyes, and set at liberty anything that was hurt"

"Just as I expected," interrupted the preacher," "a preachin' liberty to the captives, which means slaves—we had them kind down in Alabama, and every one of 'em was an Abolitionoer—a black hearted Abolitionoer—but they soon got enuff on it. Only to think of a man a calling hisself a preacher, and sayin' he's anointed to preach such stuff, when the Bible says, 'cussed be Canan'—which is niggers, which God made to be slaves—slaves allers. What did you say his name was? May be I hearn of him down in Alabam"

"I hardly think you ever heard of him. If you did you seem to think little enough of him"

"In course I don't think nothin' of him But what become of him?"

"Well, he preached this kind of doctrine two or three years, and a good many got to going to hear him, and he kept doctoring too, and going to see whoever sent for him, but it was the sermons which made the disturbance, and so much disturbance that they would n't let him preach in the meeting houses, till at last, as he was stumping out one night they got hold of him They had a kind of trial right away, and though the law was on his side they took off his clothes and spit on him, and whipped him and then fastened him up to a tree till he died"

"Served him right, served him right," said the preacher "All such orter swing They've done wus nor that down South they burnt 'em yes, they burnt 'em It kinder seems to me I hearn of this very feller afore I come away Was't it Woods, or Larkins or Henshaw? One or t'other, I reckon"

"Yes, you must have heard of him I would be singular if you had not His name was Jesus Christ"

The preacher started up, red with rage He seized his hat, and, departing said

"I don't want to have nothin' to do with you I don't want to have nothin' to do with you I don't want to have nothin' to do with you

CIRCUMSTANCES AFTER CASES.—A country man walking into the office of a lawyer Burns one day, and began his application "Barns," said he, "I have come to get your advice in a case that is giving me some trouble"

"Well, what's the matter?"

"Suppose, now," said the client, "that a man had one spring of water on his land, and his neighbor living below should build a dam across the creek through both their farms, and it was to back the water up into the other man's spring, what ought to be done?"

"Sue him, sir, sue him by all means," said the lawyer, who always became excited in proportion to aggravation of the clients, "you can recover heavy damages, sir, and the law will make him pay well for it Just give me the case, and I'll bring the money from him, if he hasn't a great deal of property, sir, it will break him up"

"But stop, Barns," cried the terrified applicant for legal advice "It's I that built the dam, and it's neighbor Jones that owns the spring, and he threatens to sue me."

The lawyer hesitated a moment, before he tacked ship, and kept on "Ah! well, sir, you say you built a dam across the creek What sort of a dam was it, sir?"

"It was a mill dam!"

"A mill dam for grinding grain, was it?"

"Yes, it was just that."

"And it is a good neighborhood mill is it?"

"Yes, so it is, and you may well say so"

"And all your neighbors bring their grain to be ground, do they?"

'Yes, sir," all but Jones"

"Then it is a great public convenience, is it not?"

"To be sure it is I would not have built but for that It is far superior to any other mill, sir"

"And now," said the lawyer, "you tell me that that man Jones is complaining just because the water from the dam happens to put back into his little spring, and he is threatening to sue you. Well, all I have to say is to let him sue, and he'll rue the day as sure as my name is Barns"

THE NEXT FOUR YEARS.—The New York Independent thus sums up some of the questions which will come up for examination and decision after the war

"What a complication of problems will the next four years bring! Nothing less than the establishment and security of Human Liberty, the reconstruction of a broken Republic, the readjustment of the rights of the States, and of the Federal Government, the status of the negro, and his conversion into a citizen, the punishment of treason, the reownership of Southern lands; the Mexican question, the Monroe doctrine, the national finances, the reabsorption of a disbanded soldiery back into citizenship, the fixing upon a standing army large enough to defend Liberty, and not large enough to menace it, these and many other problems, foreseen and unforeseen, are the unparalleled difficulties which the next Administration must meet and master."

Concerning the choice of a President who is to "meet and master" these questions, the Independent forcibly and eloquently adds

Who, then, is he? Let sober minded citizens ponder the question We repeat it, it is not time to be rashly nominating, but it is time for everybody to be prudently considering. The nation just now, is busy with something beside candidating—having a toil some task upon its hands having a toilsome sweat upon its hands, having a bloody sweat upon its brow But while the blacksmith is hammering, he may be thinking It is idle to say that because the rebellion is on our hands, therefore we are to banish all thoughts of an approaching change of administration—a change that may either be the safety or ruin of the country Besides, if the country is expected to be able, next summer, to carry on a Presidential and a military campaign, both at once, we see no reason why it is not just as able, this winter and spring, to be not only conquering the rebellion, but at the same time taking a wise forethought of the future, first of principles and afterwards of men

The ship of state tosses on a rough sea, the bells will soon ring a change of watch Who shall take the next turn at the helm? Let it be the safest man to steer in a storm the surest man to find the way into port and safe anchorage Give us the wisest head, the stoutest arm, the bravest soul! And may God keep the ship

WHY OUR GREAT MEN ARE NOT IN PUBLIC LIFE.—We never had greater men in science, in learning in art, we never had greater lawyers, or greater merchants, or greater engineers Evidently, therefore, the problem to be solved is not, why men of large capacity have failed us, but why such men are so apt to turn aside from politics, and devote themselves to other pursuits It is because the new doctrines and new politics have had the effect to make an enlightened and experienced statesmanship a disqualification for the highest offices in the national government Not the fittest, but the most available candidate is sought for; one who will revive no grudges, awaken no jealousies, a new man, and, above all, a man who is not a power in himself Thus all the candidates educated for the, place are passed over, and what is worse, a policy is inaugurated which makes it certain that soon no such candidates will be left Hence the answer to the oft repeated question, by which it is thought to silence complaints against official incompetency Where can you find better men? Where, indeed! You can you find good men and great men, but why wonder that you cannot find great statesmen, men educated and trained for public life, men, who have already won the public confidence, and whose names are in everybody's mouth—why wonder that this is impossible, when you have been pursuing for years a course which has made it impossible—Dr. Walker.

THE POOR MAN'S WAR.—In a speech at Philadelphia, last Thursday, Gen Hancock said

This war is essentially the poor man's war When it is over a higher degree of prosperity will be opened to him, a much larger field will be before him for his enterprise The wealth of unexplored regions of our country will then be within his grasp In reference to the continuation of the rebellion he thought that it would not last more than another year It is to the great interest of every hard working man of toil to help with his muscle—to have the war prosecuted vigorously—which will insure peace in a shorter space of time than if they remain lukewarm. Their forefathers lived for posterity let us venerate them, let us hand down to millions yet unborn a noble country improved by age The man who does not assist in suppressing the rebellion certainly can not legally claim as a right the blessings which we enjoy

CELEBRATED
CONCLUSIVE PROOF
OF THE EFFICACY OF
HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS!
PROTECTIVE MEDICATION
Great Truths
—IN—
SMALL COMPASS!

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.
A pure, delightful Vegetable Balm
To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm,
Protect the system from Miasma's bane,
Rouse torpid Nature and the strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.
Juices of plants roots barks of virtues rare,
By chemic art expressed with patient care,
And the mild spirit of the soundest rye—
Purest of all diffusive stimuli

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.
Digestion rallies appetite revives,
The frail assimilates the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia vanishes, with all its throes,
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.
The bilious sufferer, languid, listless pale,
Physicked for years perhaps without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs
And hides to smile at doctors and their creeds.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.
Relaxed, constricted or the sent of pain,
These organs should not for one day, remain
The cause of each extreme you can expel—
The BITTERS tone and regulate as well

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.
The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire,
The frame gains flesh, the eye resumes its fire,
Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns,
Tall staff and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTION.
The constitution tried by pain or care,
Or wild indulgence, is not repair,
The genial Tonic as the healthful dews'
Quickens parched herbs, its wasted power renews

CHILLS AND FEVER.
Damp cold exposure to the miasmous fog,
Brings on of ills a fearful catalogue
But intermittents whate'er their kind,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS scatter to the wind

SICK HEADACHE.
This torment flies that all enjoyment kills,
Yields out to pungent scents or drastic pills,
'Tis from the stomach that it takes its rise
Tone with the BITTERS, and the anguish flies.

WANT OF APPETITE.
Without due nourishment life a palace wane,
The blood grows thin and dullness clouds the brain,
But this Elixir sets the system right,
And "Good Digestion waits on Appetite."

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.
Exhausting fever leaves its victim low,
And, unassisted, Health's return is slow,
Then with the Bitters weakened Nature aid,
For in each drop vitality's conveyed.

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.
By night and day, on river, sea or land,
In instant peril of disease we stand,
But its dread arrows harmless seem to glide
Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.
Roam through the world, through every climate
Here is the antidote 'gainst every change,
Water impure it tempers and insures
Men in all hardships to all temperatures

SEA SICKNESS
Who has not felt how feebly words essay
The qualms one feels on shipboard to portray?
Dread them no more, defy old Neptune's power,
The Bitters cure the nausea in an hour

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC
Of all the liquors borne across the sea
Not one—mark that—from acrid poison's free,
These Bitters stand 'mid stimulants alone,
Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone

A MILD APERIENT.
Remember, too, aperient root and herb,
Are blent with these that relaxation curb
In this rare mixture, give this fact due weight,
That while the Bitters tone, they regulate

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE
If on the stomach food to acid turns,
And pungent gas the inner membrane burns,
This grand corrective soon removes the ban,
And from the heartburn frees the inner man

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.
Why not with all the opiates dispense,
That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense,
When these rare BITTERS soothe both mind and frame
Inviting both to yield to slumbers claim?

THE WORLD'S OPINION
Touching the BITTERS this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere
Known in all lands washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH HOPE and VIGOR follow in their train!

AVOID COUNTERFEITS.
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good Imitators imitate,
Of these beware Discreetly use your eyes
From honest houses purchase your supplies

CAUTION!
The Government Endorsement.
In order to guard against the imposition on the public we are requested to take especial note of the beautifully engraved steel entry stamp through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS It is also thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection in the cork obliquely across the cork and over the neck of each bottle and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most inobservant observer Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there

It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively in glass and never under any circumstances by the gallon or the barrel Impostors and imitators are abroad and the only safeguard the public have against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and name of Head of Messrs HOSTETTER & SMITH and that the seal is unbroken
